

Mechanology, Inc., is a recognized innovator in the field of compressors and expanders. Our positive displacement technology has been described as the first major innovation in compressor design in over 30 years, and Mechanology's technological developments have truly enabling capabilities in numerous markets including renewable energy, power recovery, and process technologies.

Job Description:

Outside Sales

Job Type:

Full-time

Location:

United States - OPEN

Description:

Mechanology is looking for an experienced sales person to be responsible for account growth and development of our Nestco steam turbine business.

Qualifications / Experience:

Bachelors degree in Mechanical Engineering

Minimum of 10 years direct sales of steam, compressor, and pump rotor technology

Experience in business development and/or building growth plans

Energy industry understanding and specific expertise

Ability to travel as required